

Senior Graphic Designer

Reveal Consulting, an Indianapolis integrated marketing firm, is looking for a full-time Senior Graphic Designer. This position requires a complete understanding of brand strategy and brand management. Must be proficient in Adobe CS3 (PC format) and capable of conceptualizing original ideas and executing them through all stages of the design process. Ideal candidate will have both print and Web design experience.

Candidate must possess:

- Degree in graphic design or related area
- 3-5 years experience
- Solid portfolio of work samples
- Strong passion for design
- Understanding of business and how their work can help clients
- Exceptional communication skills
- Attention to detail
- Motivation and ability to be a self starter

To be considered for the position, please send your cover letter, resume, and work samples to careers@revealconsulting.com.

About Reveal

Reveal Consulting is a leader in integrated brand marketing, CEO strategies, and proven sales tools development. Our exceptional team builds businesses in an ever-changing world: reaching customers, developing new markets, and getting results.

Reveal works with companies looking to take advantage of the opportunities that are out there. We test assumptions, spot market shifts, develop action plans to connect with new audiences, and deliver measurable returns on marketing investment. In short, we help companies regain control over their future.

For more information, please visit www.RevealConsulting.com.